A Deeper Look

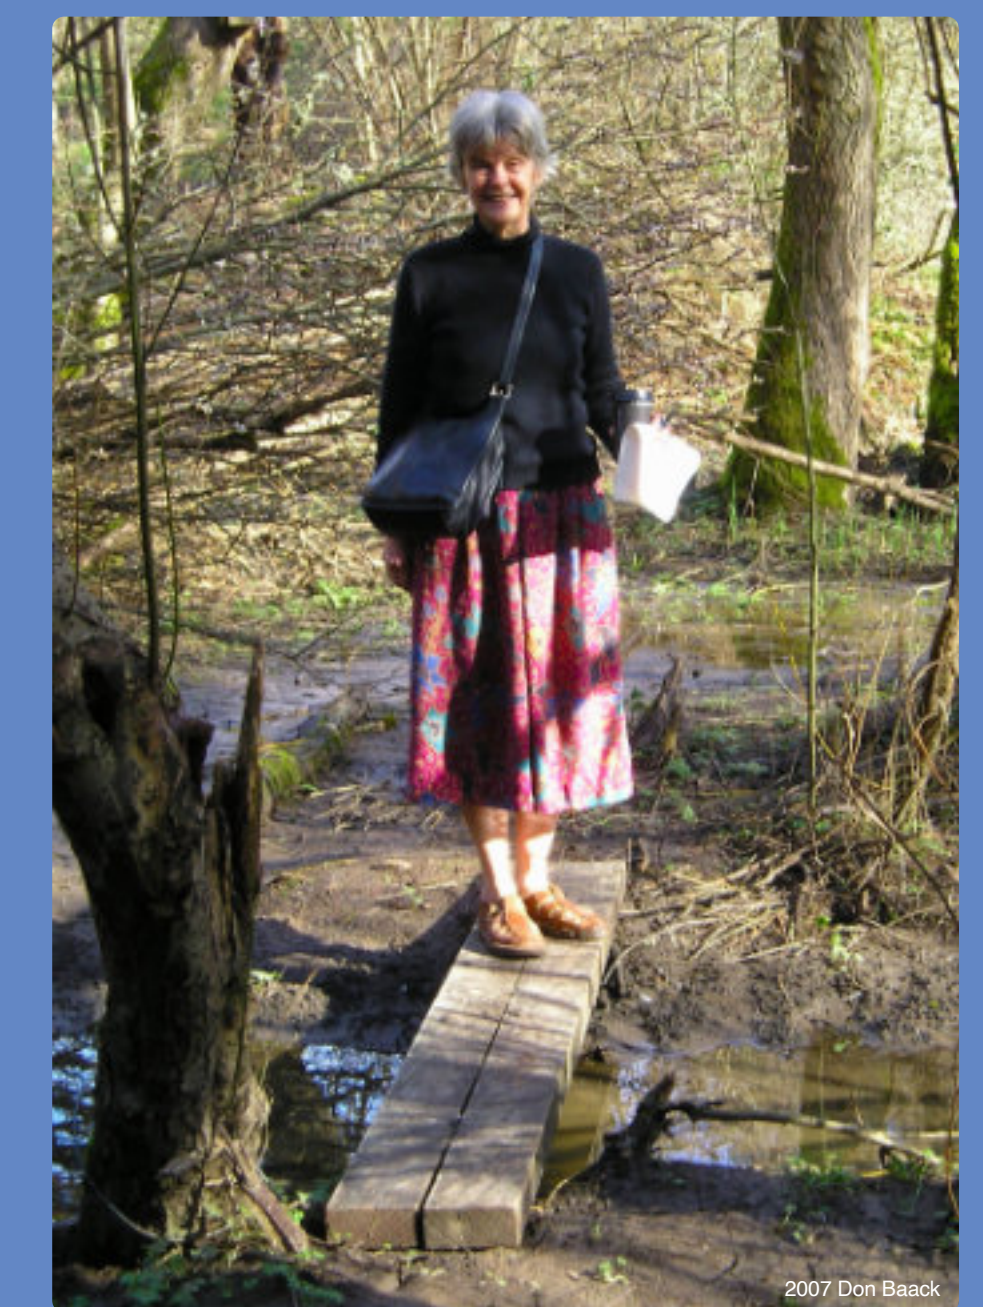

Community Initiative

Hillsdale residents have a long tradition of blazing trails. The story of the Raz-Baack crossing of Stephens Creek, begins with Werner Raz, grandson of Swiss immigrants whose family owned many of the dairies nestled in this area. Werner's daughter, Trudi Raz Frengle, is standing next to Don Baack, founder of SWTrails, in the photo above. The story continues with the decades of advocacy by volunteers which finally resulted in Stephens Creek Nature Park. What becomes apparent from all these details is the strong sense of volunteerism and self-sufficiency which characterize the neighborhood. Scan the QRCode above to learn more.
